

Ensuring Color Consistency on Multi-width Projects

COLOR IS OUR FOUNDATION

ALPOLIC® aluminum skins are painted using our exclusive die-coating process. This type of paint application produces a finish that meets and/or exceeds the industry's highest quality and performance standards.

For orders that require ALPOLIC® metal composite materials to be produced in multiple widths, we recommend that all sheet sizes be ordered at the same time. This will ensure your job is completed in a single production run, guaranteeing color consistency across all sheets since the same paint will be used throughout the process and all pieces will be produced during one production event.

We can not guarantee that sheets made from different production runs will be exact matches.
